BEAT WIFE WHO WOULDN'T JOIN CABARET GIRLS

Sleight of Hand Man Chokes Spouse When She Won't Wear Dance Togs.

A vaudeville magician who wanted his wife to become a cabaret singer and beat her when she refused to wear the bizarre costume, was mentioned in the superior court this morning during the trial of the divorce action brought by Sabba Vacco of this city. She wanted a decree from Amedeo Vacco, who takes rabbits out of silk hats and does other sleight of hand tricks to amuse the public.

The young wife, who made an attractive appearance on the stand, said her husband choked her when she declined to become a cabaret performer. He also beat her frequently during the married life. The couple were wedded May 8, 1910, when the girl was 15 years old. Judge Webb granted the decree.

Viola Merrick of this city was granted a divorce from Frederick Merrick of this city. Decision in 1912 was alleged. The couple were married Jan. 1, 1909.

Grace A. Thompson of New Canaan was freed from Lafayette Thompson of Darien. Decision in July, 1908, was the ground. The couple were wedded May 24, 1890.

Weather:—Unsettled; showers to night; Thursday, partly cloudy.

What variety of white shoes!

Cool in looks and cool in fact, in true harmony with one's dress for the warm season, of such variety that personal liking is easily satisfied,—such a gathering of white shoes as we believe the town has never before seen for women.

To say there are 25 or 30 distinct styles means little. 'Tis only when one sees such shoes on the foot, that fair idea is had of their distinctive style and genuine beauty.

Almost as much variety in fabrics as in styles! Kid and buck and canvas; pumps and oxfords and high shoes, strapped shoes and plain, white soled and rubber soled, high heels and broad low heels,—a wonderful collection!

Dress high shoes

Soft fine kid, lace,—$7.
Pure white kid, button,—$5 and $6.
Arabian cloth, cool and fine, lace,—$5.

Hurd and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sanford, died at her country home in Still River, New Milford, suddenly this morning from a cerebral hemorrhage. Mrs. Hurd, while a member of one of the city's most prominent families, was of a retiring disposition, and not active in society or other affairs. She was a life long member of St. John's Episcopal church, and was 58 years old. Her husband died about a year ago. Her daughter, Miss Catherine Hurd, and son, Edwin Hurd, survive her. Mrs. Hurd was a member of St. John's Episcopal church and Mrs. Erwin M. Jennings. The funeral will be held on Friday from her residence in this city and burial will be in Mountain Grove cemetery.

Hurrying to Cross Opening Bridge, Girl Is Injured

Running to get across Congress street bridge as it was being opened about 8:30 o'clock this morning, Miss Annie Wass of 492 Noble avenue, fell on the draw approach and received a severe shaking up and several painful bruises about the body. She was taken to her home in a jitney bus and was treated by her family physician. At 8:36 o'clock the cut out box on the bridge burned out and began blazing, but No. 1 Chemical company was summoned and extinguished the blaze with chemicals. The wires through the box are used to feed the trolleys while crossing the bridge but traffic was not hindered by the accident.

Charge That Check For $7 Was Raised to $70

A charge that a $7 check was raised to $70 was made in the common pleas court this morning when William Amend of Darien appeared to testify in his suit against Arthur Raymond of Rowayton. Amend said the check had been given to him by Raymond, but payment had been stopped. Raymond claimed he gave Amend a $7 check for services performed and found that the figure had been raised afterward. Judge Scott reserved decision.

New handsome Yorkes—$1.15

Yorke is the name of the best shirt that is built for men at its price.

Yorke shirts may not be better than some other shirts in material—for no maker has a monopoly of good cloth.

They may not be better than some other shirts in appearance, when new.

BUT they excel in the service they give!

Yorke shirts fit. They are cut so there's not a surplus inch in them—but they allow plenty of room where a man wants it, fit smoothly, do not bunch up.

Yorke shirts wear. That is because they are not strained through being poorly-fitted; because they are finished with strong close-sewed seams; because their cloth is firm and staunch and true.

Yorke colors and patterns are good. Men of good taste like them because of this added feature.

AND NOW a special lot of Yorkes, fresh from the makers, at a special price just because it is their time to clean things up at the shop.

Clean new attractive patterns, made up with the summer's favorite soft cuffs, with all the Yorke distinctive features.

Of regular Yorke $1.50 quality,—

A skirt made for $1

There are a dozen or more good new styles in which a skirt will be made to measure for one dollar.

It may be made from any of our regular skirting wools—and there are a number of them of special price-interest just now.

It is guaranteed that the skirt will fit, that it will be carefully made, that it will be thoroughly satisfactory in every detail.

Usual price for such tailoring is greater. The price of one dollar is for a limited time only.

Just now a fine gathering of wools and other skirtings especially fitted for summer wear—and at these prices:—

Newest—Wool Jersey in 54 inch width, green and Copenhagen and old rose, very effective fabric,—$2.50 yard.

Aeropore, a fabric as light as a feather; serges and poplins and fine plaids and mixtures,—$2 yard.

Crasho, another summery lightweight textile; mohair, diagonal, serge crepe and poplin,—$1.50 yard.

Cheery suitings and mixtures, brilliant mohairs, serges poplins and crepes,—$1 yard.

In staple colors—crepe serge poplin mohair panama; and effective combinations in plaids and stripes,—85c yard.

Right aisle, rear.

The Soul of a Nation.
The Nelson monument, set among the lions at Trafalgar square; the tattered battleflags in the Church of St. Louis almost touching the tomb of Napoleon, the trophies of war treasured in public galleries in all great nations of the world, are not symbols of victories or of heroes and conquerors, but expressions of that unity of spirit which makes the soul of a nation.

There is no true patriotism, no true love of country, without this unity of spirit. No true nation exists or can exist without it. It is a thing which money cannot buy or more than wealth create.—George W. Alger in Atlantic Monthly.

Turning Loose the Sunshine.
"It's a dark day," some one said to Brother Williams, "a very dark, hopeless day." And then the old negro said:

"Hit's ez you look at it. But why don't you unlock de sunshine? Ain't you got some hid out roum' de house some's—in some ole co'ner what you clean ferget? Stir roum! Stir roum! an' tu'n de sunshine loose! It's dar—in yo' house an' heart."

"Here," the dark day mourner said, "here's a dollar for you, old man!" "Bless God!" Brother Williams said, "I knowed you'd turn loose de sunshine. Hit wuz in yo' pocket all de time!"—Atlanta Constitution.

His Fix.
"Pop, what does it mean by being financially embarrassed?"
"Being married, my son."—Exchange.

Youthful Diplomat.
Billy, aged four, greeted his mother at the door with the confession that he had done precisely what she had told him not to do. His mother was in doubt as to the exact punishment merited. The confession deserved praise, but there was no excuse for the disobedience. To gain time she sent him into the next room to think over what he believed ought to be done.

Presently the little fellow returned and said very seriously, "Mother, you do what you want, but in Sunday school they teach us to forgive. Do not forget that."

Needless to say he escaped punishment.—Harper's Magazine.

Sleepy Wreckers.
The manager of a small department store sought out one of the proprietors, saying:

"I can't do a thing with Jones, the new salesman. I have had him in three departments, and he dozes all day long."

"Put him at the pajama counter," said the boss, "and fasten this card on him, 'Our nightclothes are of such a superior quality that even the clerk who wears them cannot keep awake.'"

—New York Globe.

Serious Oversight.
"Yes," remarked Farmer Cornsloss, "Josh knows a heap. He can tell me all the scientific names of what I'm tryin' to raise an' what injures the crops. But there's one thing he never investigated. If he had studied a little deeper Josh wouldn't have got all mused up while out walkin' in his Sunday clothes."

"What did he omit?"
"He never investigated the psychological effect of a red necktie on a bull."—Washington Star.

What He Got.
"What're ye comin' home with your milk pail empty for?" demanded the farmer. "Didn't the old cow give any thing?"
"Yep," replied the chore boy, "nine quarts and one kick!"—Exchange.

His Suggestion.
"It's a wonder to me you Americans don't abolish your legislatures altogether."

"Why?"
"You seem so happy when they adjourn."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

How He Got Her.
"The psychological moment counts for much in a love affair."

"That is true. Ferdinand, for instance, asked father for my hand the afternoon my dressmaker's bill came in."
